Breeze-Eastern, the world's only dedicated helicopter hoist and winch provider, is continuously searching for people whose contributions will assist us in achieving our important mission.

Take Your Career to New Heights

Breeze-Eastern is a leading global designer and manufacturer of high-performance lifting and pulling devices for military and civilian aircraft, including rescue hoists, winches, and cargo hooks.

Rescue crews trust their lives with Breeze-Eastern products, and we take that responsibility seriously. The work we do benefits the greater good, and we are a global leader because we keep the best on board.

Pioneering Work That Matters

For nearly 70 years, Breeze-Eastern has been an industry leader known for its technical innovation and product quality.

Our world-renowned products are relied on daily to complete rescue operations and military insertion/extraction operations, and move and transport cargo.

We are a company on the move. Our brand new, world-class facilities, next-generation products, engineering innovations and enhanced training and customer service programs are all designed to support mission success.

Benefits

Our robust benefits package gives employees the security of knowing their families' needs will be met, resulting in a work environment where personal and professional growth can flourish. Our benefits are generous: paid time off and paid holidays; participation in our 401(k); medical, dental, and vision plans; flexible spending accounts; and short- and long-term disability and life insurance coverage.

Maximize Your Potential

We foster and reward our people's passion for what they do. We grow talent with resources, professional training, and diverse career advancement opportunities.

Continuous learning and professional development are priorities realized through our tuition assistance program. Furthering employee education helps ensure that our knowledge base is current and relevant.
